My dear Derek,

Thanks letter 27th and Harbinson documents. Some publisher called Hart (in London) is publishing his book of prose poems, due shortly.

I enclose the B and B slip that came with your "3 Poets..." selection. Thought you might like to see Gareth's comment. Have read yr introduction with great pleasure and some of the poems, but have yet to write the piece. Yes, Cis has promised Valerie's Drabble.

You and Peggie seem to have enjoyed yourselves at Tony Rye's birthday party. I don't think I know or have met any of the people you mention. Those foaming bottles sound attractive even to one whose mother (but not father) was a member of the Band of Hope.

The first class at Ealing went well though it was the most miserably wet day for a long time. I've got a very lively retired Dubliner called Walter Mahon-Smith rooting for me - he got me the job, in fact, though I only knew him through correspondence. He has run class
